PROPERTY DESCRIPTION

Charming stone-built period cottage in the heart of Bellingham, ideal as a holiday home, holiday let, combination of both or as a main residence.

Tastefully presented with character features, complemented by modern day conveniences such as upvc double glazing and oil central heating.

The hub of the house is unquestionably the welcoming open plan living room with its expensive composite front door with diamond shaped leaded double glazed insert. Other features in this room include inglenook style fireplace housing a cast iron wood burning stove and connecting staircase to the first floor.

The rest of the layout comprises: 15 feet kitchen with range of cabinets and built in cooking appliances; landing; two bedrooms; fully tiled bathroom / WC with matching tiled flooring and mains shower over bath. Externally there is a rear yard with a brick built storage shed.

Bellingham village sits in rural Northumberland astride the North Tyne River with all of the usual village amenities including schooling, doctor's surgery, shops, sports club and public houses. The rural setting makes it ideal for those who enjoy an evening stroll in the country or riverside.
